

ROOSEVELT ASSAULTED.

This Time a Mob Followed Him From Church in Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Governor Roosevelt at the close of the services at the Trinity Dutch Reform church yesterday, which he invariably attends when spending Sunday in Chicago, was set upon by a band of young ruffians. They cursed him in the presence of the Rev. Peter Moerdyke, pastor of Trinity Reform church, and followed him to his carriage, swearing and throwing mud balls at him.

Republicans declare the attack was inspired by cartoons which have appeared in an afternoon paper. "Who shot a Spaniard in the back?" shouted a 16-year old, as Roosevelt, hat in hand, reached the vestibule of the church. "We've got a chunk of ice for you," said another.

Women and children, horrified and fearing bloodshed, drew back into the church. Roosevelt paused for a moment white with rage. Colonel Curtis Guild jr., saw what was coming. He had Roosevelt by the arm and whispered:

"For God's sake, Theodore, don't say a word. Don't do anything. Get in your carriage."

But Roosevelt was furious. He had neither cane nor umbrella and for a moment he stood before his insulters the picture of impotent and insulted anger. His tormentors danced around and away from him.

It was the first time since he came into the West that respectable women had been made to hear in his presence the scurrility of the political camp follower and scavenger. But Guild grabbed him by the arm as he opened the carriage door and almost shoved the governor into it.

"Drive to the Annex," yelled Guild to the driver. A moment later the vehicle was dashing down Harrison street with a dozen yelling, cursing, mud throwing boys in pursuit. The Rev. Peter Moerdyke, pastor of the church, was left standing in the doorway whither he had followed his distinguished guest, appealing vainly for a policeman to arrest the rioters. Before a blue coat arrived the rabble had dispersed.

That was the ugly finale to what had previously been a model day of rest and worship for the Republican Vice-Presidential candidate. Governor Roosevelt refused to discuss the affair upon his arrival at the Auditorium. Much of the language used by the young ruffians had been put in the mouths of the various figures used in cartoons in an afternoon paper.

CARL BROWNE INVENTOR

Son-in-Law of Coxey Will Build a Flying Machine Factory

Fulton, Mo., Sept. 8.—Carl Browne, son-in-law of Coxey, is building a factory on the Freedom Co-operative grounds, about six miles from here. Mr. Browne proposes to make flying machines for commercial use on "the Carl Dryden Browne patent applied for principle of rotary winged wheels." Just the nature of this principle has not been made public, but the inventor insists that his machine will fly and can be made so cheap as to soon supersede the bicycle for home use. To celebrate the laying of the cornerstone of his factory, Mr. Browne has planned a luncheon and has sent invitations to many of his friends all over the country. It is possible that Mr. Browne will demonstrate the practicability of his machine, which will permit him to heed the historic injunction of his famous march to Washington to "keep off the grass."

HE IS TO BE SHOT, TOO.

A Choctaw Indian Who Committed Murder on Parole and Waiting Calmly.

Antlers, I. T., Oct. 8.—Johnson Jacobs, a full blood Choctaw who is under sentence to be shot for the murder of a Choctaw woman five years ago, but who made his escape and was not captured until last spring, is in town today. He is under no bond except that of his honor to appear at the Choctaw court grounds after the Choctaw council adjourns, to be shot, provided a bill is not passed giving him his freedom. He remarked to your correspondent:

"I suppose they will shoot me."

CALLED WEBB DOWN.

A Woman Answers His Talk About the Price of Sugar.

Topeka, Oct. 9.—A few nights ago in a speech in the Northwest, Webb McNeill declared emphatically that the people of Kansas were not prosperous. "I can prove it by the women here tonight," he said. "Now my lady friends, take it in sugar. Four years ago you could get eighteen pounds of sugar for $1. Now you can only get fifteen for $1. Isn't that true, and if so, where does the prosperity come in?"

"Yes, we could buy more sugar in 1896 for $1," replied a woman in the audience, "but the trouble was, we didn't have the dollar."

Everybody gave Webb the horse laugh.

YOUTSEY INSANE

The Unfortunate Man Collapses at Sight of

Goebel's Brother on the Stand and is Still Lying in a Stupor

COLLAPSED IN THE COURT

Room and all Night Lay in a State of Prostration

His Lawyers and Intimate Friends Think that he is Insane

Georgetown, Ky., Oct. 9.—One of the most remarkable scenes ever enacted in a Kentucky court occurred tonight in the Youtsey trial, the defendant himself being the chief participant. The court room was crowded at the time, and the excitement was intense. Dee Armstrong, the Louisville detective, had just told of his talks with Youtsey before and after his arrest. Then Arthur Goebel was put on the stand, and Judge Ben Williams, who, for the first time, appeared for the prosecution, did the questioning.

Arthur Goebel said: "I talked with Youtsey the day he was arrested, late in the afternoon in the jail in Frankfort, in reference to the murder of my brother."

Just at this point Youtsey arose behind his attorneys and, in a loud voice said:

"It is untrue—it is a lie—I never spoke a word to that man in my life nor he to me."

Colonel Crawford told him to be quiet and sit down, and others took hold of him.

"I will not sit down. I never said a word to that man—it is untrue."

He was shouting by this time and everyone was on tiptoe with excitement. Youtsey's wife sprang to his side and, while endeavoring to make him sit down, could be heard saying: "Now you have killed my husband, I suppose you are satisfied."

Then Youtsey hysterically shouted again:

"I am innocent—there is no blood on my hands; these men are swearing my life away."

Two or three deputy sheriffs went over and grabbed him. He struggled wildly and said:

"Let me alone I will not sit down."

Arthur Goebel meanwhile sat, sphinx-like, in the witness chair and never turned his head. Finally, after Youtsey was forced into a seat, he shouted again:

"Goebel is not dead—all the demons in hell could not kill him."

"Mr. sheriff, if the defendant does not behave himself, put handcuffs on him," said Judge Cantrell. Meanwhile, the audience could not be forced to keep their seats until the Judge threatened to fine those who stood up.

Youtsey settled back in his chair, closed his eyes and seemed in a state of collapse. He waved his handkerchief above his head in an aimless sort of way and groaned and cried hysterically. Finally, quiet was restored and Judge Williams asked Arthur Goebel another question, when Colonel Crawford asked a postponement of the trial until tomorrow, on account of the defendant's condition. Judge Cantrell said he could see no cause or reason for the defendant's outbreak, but in justice to his attorneys, he would postpone the case until tomorrow. Mr. Franklin said the commonwealth had not the slightest objection to adjourning until tomorrow and the court adjourned.

HE IS STILL WORSE TODAY

By Scripps-McLain Press Association.

Georgetown, Ky., Oct. 10.—Youtsey lay in a stupor all night and still remained in that condition this morning. Judge Cantrell passed the case until Thursday. In asking for a continuance Youtsey's attorney said that after being removed from court last night the prisoner became unconscious and later violent. Some say that when Arthur Goebel took the stand his likeness to the dead man caused the deceased to rise before the prisoner who in a moment became insane.

Robbed the Grave

A startling incident is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50c, guaranteed at Evans Bros drug store.

BUSINESS OPINION.

Solid Southern Men Hope for McKinley's Re-election.

Becoming Awakened to the Necessity of Advancing the Republican Policies of Protection and Expansion.

The south is becoming thoroughly awakened to the fact that the policies of the republican party—protection, expansion and sound money—are those that will best promote the industries of that section of the country. The Manufacturers' Record, of Baltimore, has collected another broadside of southern opinion on the issues of the day, this time from bankers. The southern bankers as a rule coincide with the opinions of the manufacturers, and here is what some of them say:

E. L. Foster, vice president of the bank of Anderson county, Coal Creek, Tenn.: "While I was a democrat, and voted three times for Cleveland, I do not see what could be done—from a mere human standpoint—that would be more disastrous to the business interests of the country, and therefore to every interest, than the election of Bryan. The gold standard of money must be maintained, imperialism or no imperialism."

A. S. Reed, cashier, Bertram, Tex.: "While a very large majority of people in this section will vote for Bryan for president, because he is their party nominee, still the honest conviction of the best business men is that they would really prefer to see Mr. McKinley reelected, believing that dency would be very disastrous to every business interest in the country."

William Powell, cashier Bank of Culloden, Culloden, Ga.: "I am a northerner. While he (Mr. Bryan) might not be able to foist his free silver issue upon the country, it would be dangerous to give him the chance to do so, and only for the race question, I believe that this would be the verdict at the polls of many thousands of the voters of Georgia."

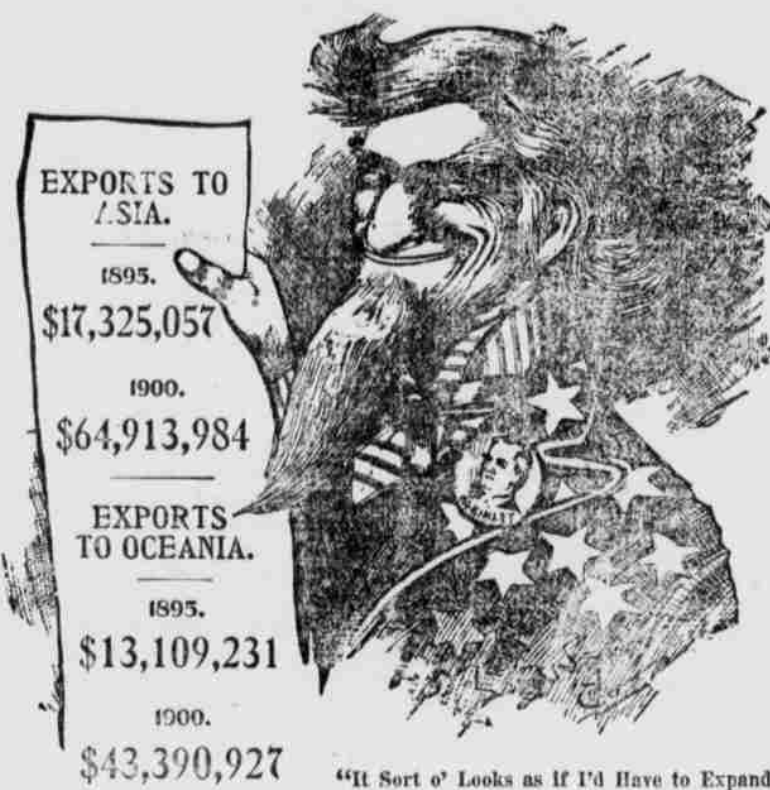

O. F. Luttrell, cashier Bank of Brewton, Brewton, Ala.: "It seems to be the consensus of opinion among the leading business men that the business and commercial interests of the country will be best subserved by the election of Mr. McKinley. No one denies that the election of Bryan would be adverse to all business."

J. B. Carter, president Gribble-Carter Wholesale Grain company, Sherman, Tex.: "As for presidential candidates I do not think it advisable to make a change at this particular time."

C. W. Arnett, Fairmount, W. Va.: "Bryan's election would mean disaster to business, destruction of public confidence, the return of panics, the reduction of work and wages, and the repetition of the scenes of hardships which filled the land during the last democratic administration."

O. G. Bournan, Citizens national bank, Hillsboro, Tex.: "I believe that the business interests of the country would be injured less by the election of President McKinley than Mr. Bryan."

E. A. Shipley, clerk and master chancery court, Jonesboro, Tenn.: "I have no doubt that the business interests of the country would be best subserved by the election of Mr. McKinley."

such reelection would better tend to insure a continuance of the present prosperity."

H. F. Selver, cashier First national bank, Denton, Tex.: "I firmly believe that Bryan's election would bring financial disaster over our beloved country, degradation to our flag wherever it floats. McKinley's election, continued prosperity, and all nations honor our flag wherever it is thrown to the breeze."

H. W. Showalter, assistant cashier, Ritchie County bank, Harrisonville, W. Va.: "Democrats and republicans both say that times are better now than ever before in the country's history. McKinley, protection and sound money is the cry from all lips."

Joseph S. Davis, cashier First national bank, Albany, Ga.: "The conservative business men of the south, almost without exception, regard the doctrine of free, independent and unlimited coinage of silver as a menace to the country's prosperity. But what the result would be should Mr. Bryan be elected, would require a prescience beyond human to declare with certainty."

W. E. Satterfield, cashier People's national bank, New Iberia, La.: "The country has never been so prosperous as since the election of Mr. McKinley. We want to see his good work continued. No Bryan."

G. W. Saxon, president Capital City bank, Tallahassee, Fla.: "The political party that maintains an honest, stable currency, with open doors for foreign trade, will, in my opinion, best subserve the business interests of the country."

J. K. Ragsdale, Blair, S. C.: "The average business man believes that the election of Mr. Bryan to the presidency of the United States would cause a money panic."

F. A. Piper & Co., bankers, Uvalde, Tex.: "We are doing well; be satisfied, and let it alone."

W. S. Wilson, cashier Deposit bank, Eminence, Ky.: "It is my opinion that the election of Mr. McKinley will be for the business interests of the country. Imperialism is only a scare that we care nothing for. I am a democrat, but I am convinced it is to our interest to make no change in the president."

P. A. Ball, cashier American national bank, Fort Smith, Ark.: "This section of the country never before enjoyed so great a degree of prosperity as at the present time. We are well satisfied with McKinley's administration, and for my part apprehend that a change would prove most disastrous to every business enterprise."

A. E. Watson, president First national bank, Marlin, Tex.: "The business outlook is good. In our opinion the election of Mr. Bryan to the presidency would be very disastrous to every business interest in the country."

RESULTS OF BRYAN'S LETTER.

First Fruits of the Democratic Candidate's Letter of Acceptance.

The response by Aguinaldo is prompt and to the point. Bryan's letter came out only a few days ago, and Gen. MacArthur reports the results.

"Considerable activity throughout Luzon. Fighting reported * * * in districts heretofore quiet. In Ilocos provinces * * * numerous small affairs. * * * Country north of Pasig * * * very much disturbed. * * * South of Pasig same conditions." It was a mere matter, of course, and had been "anticipated and reported upon" as long ago as August 25 as likely to occur about this time.

Twenty-one Americans killed and 19 wounded!

It is well to keep Lawton's prophetic words in mind: "If I am shot by a Filipino bullet it might as well come from one of my own men, because I know from observation, confirmed by captured prisoners, that the continuance of the fighting is chiefly due to reports that are sent out from America."

Expansion in Trade.

The rapid growth of our business with Japan in rails and machinery during the past four years is an indication of what may be accomplished in that quarter in the future under proper encouragement. Four years ago American rails were unknown in Japan, but at the present they more than double in quantity the rails which come from England, which up to 1896 constituted the chief source of supply. It is believed that Americans have it in their power to practically control the supply of rails and railroad material generally with Japan during the next decade. As an indication, it is cited that the Carnegie company signed a contract at Kobe for 8,000 tons of rails at a price of $3.28 per ton under the lowest English bid. The men who manufacture these rails contribute to the well being of the farmers whose supplies feed and clothe them.—Hard-ware.

Who Owns the Factories?

Massachusetts is one of the leading manufacturing states in the union. In 1899 there were 4,740 factories, of which 3,461 were owned by individuals, 1,188 by independent corporations and 91 by industrial combinations. The individual manufacturer is the largest element by long odds in the state's industrial enterprises.

TWO SMALL BARNES BURNED

People Were Startled by the Ringing of the Bell and Relieved That It Was No Worse.

For the first time in several weeks the ringing of the fire bell startled the people of this town last Wednesday and they arose from their dinners and ran to the fourth ward, whither the high mounting smoke and flames directed the crowd. Running along, the reporter heard a small boy declare between gasps: "I do hope it is the school house." And it looked from town as if it might be anywhere in the fourth ward.

It proved to be two barns on the alley on east Neosho street between Buckeye and Cottonwood. The fire started in the barn belonging to the Dr. Teas property on Buckeye street and occupied by A. M. Easton and B. F. Webber. H. B. Francis, who recently sold out in the north part of town, had driven his covered wagon into the yard and was visiting Mr. Easton, his father-in-law. He had two horses and a new buggy in the barn. Mrs. Easton went into the yard to feed the chickens and saw smoke issuing from the barn. She ran to the door and saw smoke and flames springing from the hay manger in front of one of the horses. She summoned the family and the four women who were at home managed between hysterical sobs to get the two horses and the buggy out of the barn. It was full of hay and burned quickly, finally falling with a crash. The sparks fired the barn of H. G. Manley just across the alley and it too burned.

Before the latter barn fell the fire department arrived and was greeted with jeers from the crowd. Coming at noon the alarm found most of the firemen at dinner and this caused the delay. Nothing could be done save to watch the neighborhood and prevent other fires and the draft from the barns carried large pieces of burning shingles for a full block away.

The origin of the fire is unknown, one of the little Shapel boys venturing the theory that boys were smoking cigarettes and set it afire.

"For three days and nights I suffered agony untold from an attack of cholera morbus brought on by eating cucumbers," says M. E. Lowther, clerk of the district court, Centerville, Iowa. "I thought I should surely die, and tried a dozen different medicines but all to no purpose. I sent for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and three doses relieved me entirely." This remedy is for sale by Iola druggists.

He Used Angle Worm Oil.

Galeta Times.

Robert Lishey, colored, of this city, has a little son nearly seven years old who conceived the idea the other day of rubbing angle worm oil on his body to make himself limber, that he might perform feats of contortion which could not be done by his companions. The boy caught a lot of the worms, built a fire in the yard and rendered the worms into oil, which he applied from head to foot. In a few hours he became so weak he could not stand up and had to go to bed. His condition is serious and may result in death or make him an invalid for life.

You little knew when first we met That some day you would be The lucky fellow I'd choose to let, Pay for my Rocky Mountain Tea. Ask your druggist.

Walked Into a Lawsuit.

Among the holders of Allen county land which was dragged through the court in the league cases one of the heaviest was L. D. Romberger, of Peoria, Ill. He had numerous suits and his lawyer was L. W. Keplinger of Humboldt. For some years Mr. Keplinger clung to a bill for $200 legal services which he made out against Romberger but which he could not collect peaceably and not legally because he could not get service on that gentleman.

Friday a stranger walked into clerk of the court Miller's office and asked about some judgments. Miller asked his name and as he is a little hard of hearing the gentleman had to repeat the name in good round tones. It was L. D. Romberger. Sheriff Hobart overheard the loud second call of the name, his mind worked like a flash, he recalled the whole affair and while Miller was hobnobbing with Romberger in the vault, the sheriff made out the papers, Miller was called to the phone, but really to sign the papers, and then the sheriff served them. And thus Mr. Romberger was sued for that $200 which he never expected to have to pay. He has retained a lawyer and will fight it.
